2013 Plenary Announcement

On behalf of the CPSP Plenary Organizing Committee, we warmly invite you to join us from March 17 through 20, at the Golden Nugget Resort in Las Vegas, Nevada for the 2013 gathering of the CPSP Community.

A block of rooms has been reserved at a special rate of $49 per night. Reserve your room online today by clicking on this link: Golden Nugget - Reservations, or call 800-634-3454.

Register early for the event online at www.cpspplenary.org or by completing the form on the last page of this brochure. You may also register at the event.

Working Conference

Please remember, as with all CPSP gatherings, that this is a working conference. All registrants are requested to bring a paper or clinical case for presentation.

The heart of the CPSP gathering is the mutual sharing of our work and our lives with each other. Thus, each participant is expected to come prepared to share something from his or her life or work in a small group context.

There are no ground rules about what particular individuals may decide to share. The small consultation groups have become a highly significant part of the community gathering.

The small consultation groups represent the CPSP community’s commitment to hearing and responding to each voice in the community. These small groups provide the context for both care and consultation with each other.

Out Of The Depths: Stalking the Unconscious

Group Relations Consultants: Charla Hayden & Jack Lampl

Group Relations

Are we really as clear on what we’re doing and as in charge as we think? As well-trained and sensitive professionals we believe we have significant understanding and control over how we exercise authority and leadership in the numerous groups we work and live in.

In fact, there is considerable evidence that the dynamics of groups and systems have more influence than we see or acknowledge at times. The method known as Group Relations, developed at the Tavistock Clinic in London and brought to the US by the A.K. Rice Institute nearly 42-years ago, provides a body or theory and experiential learning that allows us to experience, appreciate and effectively work within the vary complex systemic dynamics of our work and personal lives.

Jack Lampl and Charla Hayden, two experienced practitioners, will guide us through both theory and the living experience of working in groups, including the Plenary itself. This experience is designed to increase our awareness, potentially shift our perspectives, and help us be more effective as members, leaders and counselors in the organizations and with the clients we serve.

Charla Hayden, M.A. is now an organizational consultant with previous experience teaching and managing services in health care systems such as Salem Hospital, Oregon health and Science University, Kaiser-Permanente’s Northwest Region, and the Public Health Service Clinic, La Clinica del Carino - all in Oregon. Her success is largely based on a long-term engagement with applying Group Relations theory to understanding and leading groups.

Jack Lampl is the President and Executive Director of the A. K. Rice Institute for the Study of Social Systems. He also regularly consults to Group Relations experiential conferences and non-profit organizations, He is a Credentialed Mediator through the National Conflict Resolution Center in San Diego. He brings mediation, group relations skills and a variety of media and communications experience, including web technology and video production to his work with groups.

Tavistock Session 1: Experienced group relations staff will lead a forty-five minute interactive didactic event explaining the basic group relations theory, the concept of here and now and how it is relevant to counseling work. This will be followed by a forty-five minute experiential plenary event that will introduce the participants to the methodology followed by a thirty-minute debriefing. The event will be designed to engage both new comers and those with experience in the Group Relations work. Following this event, the consulting team will refine the design of the next event to occur the following day. It is expected that during the first day, the group relations consultants will randomly visit the small groups as observers in order to get a sense of the system and to inform the design of subsequent events.

The Covenant of the College of Pastoral Supervision and Psychotherapy

We, the CPSP members see ourselves as spiritual pilgrims seeking a truly collegial professional community. Our calling and commitments are, therefore, first and last theological. We covenant to address one another and to be addressed by one another in a profound theological sense. We commit to being mutually responsible to one another for our professional work and direction.

Matters that are typically dealt with in other certifying bodies by centralized governance will be dealt with primarily in Chapters. Thus, we organize ourselves in such a way that we each participate in a relatively small group called a Chapter consisting of approximately a dozen colleagues. Teaching or counseling programs directed by CPSP Diplomates are the primary responsibility of the Chapter.

We commit ourselves to a galaxy of shared values that are as deeply held as they are difficult to communicate. “Recovery of soul” is a metaphor that points toward these values. We place a premium on the significance of the relationships among ourselves. We value personal authority and creativity. We believe we should make a space for one another and stand ready to midwife one another in our respective spiritual journeys. Because we believe that life is best lived by grace, we believe it essential to guard against becoming invasive, aggressive, or predatory toward each other. We believe that persons are always more important than institutions, and even the institution of CPSP itself must be carefully monitored lest it take on an idolatrous character.

We intend to travel light, to own no property, to accumulate no wealth, and to create no bureaucracy. We are invested in offering a living experience that reflects human life and faith within a milieu of supportive and challenging community of fellow pilgrims.

EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT MEDICAL ETHICS BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK

by Brian Childs, Ph.D., CPSP President-Elect.

Brian is currently the Director of Ethics for the University of Maryland Medical System in Easton, Maryland. A past Fellow of the National Endowment for the Humanities, Brian studied and taught at the College of Medicine and Hiram College in the Institute for Medicine and the Humanities. He has taught at Princeton, Rutger, and Emory University and professor in the graduate school of the University of Maryland University College. He is on the Clinical Board of the Living Legacy Foundation, the Organ Transplant Organization, and he also serves as the ethics consultant. He is a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist in Maryland, and he is the author of eight books, numerous journal articles, four journals in medical ethics. A Red Cross Mental Health Disaster Worker, he worked in New York after 9/11, and on the Gulf Coast after Katrina.

The workshop will provide an intensive overview of medical eth-
In particular, the history, procedures and theories which support decision-making, especially when two or more values are in conflict. This initiative will provide an introduction to the American Society for Bioethics and the Humanities, “Core Competencies” manual and the ASBH policy and procedure for ethics consultation.

The aim of the workshop is to stimulate interest in medical ethics and the role of the clinical chaplain to discuss, evaluate, and solidify their own beliefs and values, while learning to reference the core beliefs of others.

In presenting this workshop, Brian relate, “It would be my hope that this introduction might lead to stimulating interest in more formal training in ethics.”

RED CROSS DISASTER CHAPLAINCY ORIENTATION

Consider learning more about Disaster Spiritual Care (DSC) and its new integration within the American Red Cross (ARC).

CPSP has a long ancestry with Red Cross and recently CPSP members were on the front-lines of the Hurricane Sandy and Newtown CT events. This adds to the many local events where our DSC serve from home. Partnering with national humanitarian organizations and cognate partners, the DSC trained network is expanding and we continue to value the expertise and experience of Board Certified Clinical Chaplains to support our integrated and collaborative work.

The new model of Disaster Spiritual Care has been in development since March 2012, with pilot programs in San Diego CA, Cincinnati OH, and Louisville KY. Registered members can be activated for local disaster events, aviation and transportation disasters, mass casualties, terrorism events, and by government request.

We are fortunate that Chaplain Naomi K. Paget, PhD will be our presenter. She is a prominent expert in Crisis Intervention for the FBI and disaster relief organizations, worldwide. Her much respected books on Disaster Spiritual Care are the 'must reads' for chaplain disaster training. Dr. Paget will bring her many years of academic and experiential knowledge to our CPSP orientation. (Natural disasters: China earthquakes, Japan Tsunami, Hurricane Katrina, San Diego wildfires. And victims of terrorism and other homicides: 9/11, Shanksville, Columbine, Newtown)

If you are interested in learning more about this next step to supporting the needs of those impacted by disaster and mass casualties, please register for this intensive four-hour orientation. Please note that this is a specialized course open to Board Certified Clinical Chaplains and Associate Board Certified Clinical Chaplains. ARC requires several additional courses and background check for full activation.

For more information and to register, please contact American Red Cross/CPSP liaison Linda Walsh-Garrison via email: Linda.Walsh-Garrison@redcross.org

*This workshop is also being offered at the APC, NACC and NAJC conferences and is open to chaplains with Board certified and Associate certified status in ACPE, APC, CASC/ACSS, CPSP, ICPC, NACC, NAJC or NAVAC.

The deadline for application is March 5, 2013.
Psy.D. or a D.Min. degree to be awarded by the Graduate Theological Foundation, depending upon the focus of one’s interest. Holding a doctoral degree in one’s field is often a key element for professionals seeking employment in medical centers and other institutions.

Some applicants have already earned a doctoral degree in a related field, but need a course of study to ground them in the theory and practice of clinical pastoral supervision. A third option for these persons is the Advanced Professional Diploma in Clinical Pastoral Supervision to be awarded by The College of Pastoral Supervision and Psychotherapy. In each option, the applicant engages the core body of knowledge and practice in clinical pastoral supervision.

About Affiliation with GTF

CPSP is proud to collaborate with the Graduate Theological Foundation in offering these doctoral programs. GTF is “an ecumenical and interreligious institution providing advanced educational opportunities to practicing ministry professionals.” Its educational philosophy is an excellent fit for CPSP members who desire to integrate theory, theology and practice at higher professional levels. GTF enjoys a special affiliation with the Oxford University Summer Programme in Theology, Oxford, England, and with the Centro Pro Unione Summer Course, Rome, Italy.

Here in the United States, our new affiliation with GTF makes CPSP a “P.R.I.M.E. Site” along with twelve other institutions through which ministry professionals can pursue a specialized graduate degree. Extensive information about GTF applications, programs, faculty, affiliations and a student handbook is available on their website at www.gtfeducation.org.

About CPSP Faculty and the Application Process

The CPSP faculty for these doctoral programs include Rev. Cesar Espin eda, Ph.D., Rev. David M. Franzen, Th.M., D.Min., Rev. Joel Harvey, Ph.D. and Rev. H. Mac Wallace, D.Min. The specialty of these doctoral programs is clinical pastoral supervision. Accordingly, one prerequisite for acceptance into these doctoral programs is that the applicant must be enrolled in, or must have completed, a clinical pastoral supervision training relationship. De facto, one’s supervisory training supervisor becomes an adjunct faculty member in the doctoral program and grants credit for completion of Clinical Practica courses (Units of Supervisory Clinical Pastoral Training).

Applications for these specialized graduate degree programs must be made simultaneously to GTF and CPSP. For more information and CPSP application forms please contact:
